

What is the CLEAN ENERGY GENERATION?

The Clean Energy Generation is a movement of people dedicated to meeting the climate crisis with actions that eliminate pollution and make our communities healthier, safer, and more affordable.

To slow the climate crisis caused by decades of burning fossil fuels, we need to change how utilities produce energy and how we use it in buildings, homes, and transportation.

We have the tools and technologies to produce clean energy – like solar, wind, and energy storage – which are more affordable and accessible than ever.

People just like you and me are learning and taking action, regardless of our age, income, abilities, or zip code, to create real change in our own communities.

Together, we are the Clean Energy Generation.

We're creating a future powered by clean energy that leads to clean air and water, good jobs, and vibrant communities.
